

The master gave each servant some valuable coins.

Two servants used the coins wisely and made more.

One servant buried his coins and did nothing.

The master was happy with the servants who worked well.

We should use God's gifts with courage and care.