

Paul saw Athens filled with idols and temples.

Paul told the people about the one true God.

He said God made the world and all people.

Some listened, and some laughed at his message.

A few people believed the good news about Jesus.